Interactive and Educational Group Programs

Programs are suited for all ages and cost $300 per bus or up to 50 visitors, $6 per additional visitor. Registration includes General Museum Admission. Any group size can be accommodated.

Become A Soldier 45 minutes
In this hands-on program, participants will follow the experience of a soldier who fought on Seminary Ridge and will “muster” into the army, learn infantry drill, and explore the daily life of a Civil War Soldier.

Civil War Emergency Medicine 45 minutes
The Battle of Gettysburg was one of the first battles in which a revolutionary new system, which directly influenced modern emergency care, was employed to evacuate wounded soldiers from the field. In this hands-on program, participants follow a soldier from the time of his wounding until his arrival at the field hospital, examining first aid, triage, and transportation.

Mending the Wounded: Surgeons, Patients, and Recovery 45 minutes
Learn how doctors treated wounded soldiers and used their experience to learn about disease. Follow a soldier from his arrival in the field hospital, through surgery, and into recovery. Examine the experiences of doctors and caregivers and how the patients coped with their wounds for the remainder of their lives.

New For Spring 2020 Run the Hospital 60 minutes
This new, innovative program puts students at the center of the decisions Civil War medical personnel would have to make during battle. Armed with primary sources, participants collaborate to complete challenges, based on actual dilemmas surgeons would face, including where to establish hospitals and how to provide the most effective treatment. Will you be able to follow the right steps to save the most patients?

Civil War Signal Corps 45 minutes
During the Civil War, armies on the battlefield had to communicate over long distances. Lacking the convenience of modern technology, they employed flags and lanterns. Learn the techniques the men of the Signal Corps used and how to send your own messages.

The Eve of Battle: Life in a Cavalry Camp 45 minutes
Examine life in a cavalry camp the night before the Battle of Gettysburg. Around a campfire on the same ground occupied by these troopers, participants will have the opportunity to discover the role cavalry played in the army, engage in and analyze Civil War songs, and write letters. Throughout this program, special attention will be paid to the experiences of the common soldier, the consequences of combat, and the legacy of the American Civil War.

The Final Attack: July 1, Guided Walking Tour 45 minutes
Learn about the final critical phase of the United States Army’s July 1, 1863 defense of Gettysburg on a guided one-mile, gently graded walking trail around and on Seminary Ridge.
